	It was great to have an introduction to the ideas before entering class and being taught them so that the teaching could solidify anything you learned, clarify anything tricky, and exemplify all of the theories presented in a more thorough way. It was also easy to digest than I can imagine other readings could be. I enjoyed the textbook.

Comment on the instructor(s).

Professor Pearson was very helpful overall. He was great at generating enthusiasm, and his examples, problem set scenarios, and general attitude were not only extremely helpful in understanding the material, but were also entertaining and had something for everyone so that the material did not grow stale. His willingness to help students further explore other aspects that were out of the scope of the class further encouraged me to pursue other aspects of philosophy and rounded out some of the questions I had regarding further applications of some of the ideas that were presented in a basic way or tangentially in the course. I would change nothing about the way in which the instructor taught.

OVERALL COURSE RATING (1 = very poor; 5 = outstanding)	NA	1	2	3	4	X

Comment on the strengths and weaknesses of this course. How could it be improved?

The teacher, Dr. James Pearson, taught very well. He would respond to every students question and not move on until there was absolutely no confusion remaining within the class. In addition to being a great teacher in class, he had office hours every week and many extra office hours. On top of all that, he would respond fairly quickly to questions on emails. However, a better course description is necessary. I thought the course would be something completely different. It was not too big a problem for me for i liked the course anyway but it might be a problem for future students.

Would you recommend this course?

Yes, if they like theoretical math and equations.

Comment on the reading assignments.

The assigned reading wasnt too useful. But if a student were to not read it, there was no penalty so it was up to the student, which is fine. Although the course material was a little bit paced, that was expected. The problem sets were well chosen and were helpful. Dr Pearson returned the HW very quickly which was again helpful. Not so much the comments on our problem sets, but the online solutions of them were helpful. If one needed the answers, he could check online.

Comment on written assignments and/or problem sets. (Did they help you prepare for the exams or quizzes? Were they manageable?)

Yes, they were manageable and they were te best review for tests.

Comment on the strengths and weaknesses of this course. How could it be improved?

I feel as though a longer breaks would have been helpful, there were somedays where it was a lot of information that started blurring together because of the speed at which Dr. Pearson went through the work in such a short period of time. I would also say that office hours might be better placed on the weekend, if at all possible, because I wanted to have time to go through the whole problem set before going, but other classes interfered with that.

Yes

Comment on the reading assignments.

Since the reading was completely covered in the next day's class, I think that it was a little superfluous, but it was nice to have an idea of what was going on beforehand.

Comment on written assignments and/or problem sets. (Did they help you prepare for the exams or quizzes? Were they manageable?)

I was definitely more prepared for the midterm, but I wish there were some more practice problems on the website because they were really helpful.

My only complaint about the class is how early in the morning it was. The course was so incredibly interesting, engaging, and just overall wonderful but at times, it became difficult to provide the necessary focus so early in the morning. Other than that, I absolutely LOVED this class.

Dr.Pearson is by far the most incredible teacher I have ever had. Not only were his presentations helpful and engaging, but he was so open to questions and patient with our repetitive questioning. Every trip to his office hours was extremely helpful and left me walking away feeling like I knew everything. Not only would he help me deduce an answer for a complicated problem, but he would help me develop the thinking process necessary for solving such problems in the future. I can honestly say that I would love to take another one of his classes in the future if possible.

Comment on the strengths and weaknesses of this course. How could it be improved?

I think the course could be improved by spending more time doing guided practice, in section-style settings or something like that. Also more office hours would have been very helpful. This course only has office hours for 2 hours, once a week. Perhaps office hours twice a week would have been more helpful.

Would you recommend this course?

I would emphasize the learning curve strongly to anyone thinking of taking this course.

Comment on the reading assignments.

The textbook was exactly similar to the lecture and in my opinion not very helpful. As in, if I didn't understand something in lecture the textbook was never a help either.

Comment on written assignments and/or problem sets. (Did they help you prepare for the exams or quizzes? Were they manageable?)

The problem sets were helpful, although sometimes there was a problem or two that I felt was unrealistically difficult.

Comment on the instructor(s).

Dr. Pearson was a fantastic lecturer. I enjoyed being in class and it was fun. I like that the class was slightly humorous on some days if nothing else. I liked doing examples in class. It kept us all engaged and made the time pass quickly. His speaking style is also very good and easy to stay engaged in class. However, on certain days it was hard to engage when I felt discouraged. For example, if I felt myself not understanding the concept that we were practicing, I would disengage because I couldn't understand the subsequent things that it built on.

OVERALL COURSE RATING (1 = very poor; 5 = outstanding)		NA	1	2	3	4	X	5

Comment on the strengths and weaknesses of this course. How could it be improved?

The way this course is structured is great. It felt like I was getting a lecture and section all at once. The only feedback I'd have is to try to stretch the TF deductions to 3-4 classes to let it sink in a bit better, but I understand with summer constraints this can be a problem.

Would you recommend this course?

Yes. The material is useful. Even for people not focusing on Philosophy.

They did help a lot. They were very manageable. I only wish I was near campus more to collaborate with others on the problem sets, but otherwise they were good.

OVERALL COURSE RATING (1 = very poor; 5 = outstanding)	NA	1	2	3	4	X	5

Comment on the strengths and weaknesses of this course. How could it be improved?

More work in class and in problem sets with Identity. It felt like we covered it too quickly at the end. I feel like you could condense two of the days before the midterm so that you start going over Quantification Theory before the midterm. Overall the course was very well structured and the problem sets were very useful for learning the material. I wish there were more homework questions to use to study for the tests.

Would you recommend this course?

Yes. Although the subject is dry, I really enjoyed doing the problem sets as each type of problem is a puzzle like Sudoku. If you enjoy riddles and brain games then you will like this class. It is also useful if you want to take the LSAT.

Problem sets were great! I thought they were very well balanced and helpful for learning the material and preparing for the tests. I wish there were more homework questions to use for practice problems for the test (our textbook doesnt seem to have any)
