

Pearson, James

PHI202J

ETHICS

William Jewell College

11-27-2012 – 12-16-2012

Comments: Use the space provided in the text area below for your comments.

- I've taken Dr. Pearson's classes before, and they remain challenging, but ultimately rewarding for students who are willing to put in the time and effort. While his standards are high, he is very willing to reach out to students and provide feedback and support.
- Sometimes it is hard to grasp what it is you want out of papers. I never seem to get it right. I think it may be a difference in taste as I don't have this problem with some of the other philosophy professors.
- Dr. Pearson is a great professor. He made the subject matter more interesting than I thought it would be.
- It was a very interesting course and I enjoyed my time.
- it was my first philosophy class but i really enjoyed the teacher and the material.
- I enjoyed this class as it was similar to the Responsible Self. I would say from the difficulty of the subject matter this course should be offered as a CTI instead of just a PHIL class because students would benefit from this class as a follow up to the Responsible Self.